AMESBURY LOCCA Introduces - Handheld Wireless Remotes & Intercoms for Homes & Businesses!

Amesbury LoCCA, Sioux Falls, SD, is pleased to bring wireless remote access to homes and businesses! Like cars of old, our homes and businesses have manual key and handle systems...but not anymore! The new ACCESS and MULTI products give us the ability to push a remote button and just push through the door...no keys, no handle turning...just push a button, and push or pull the door open. One of the best features of the Access & Multi is that it works with most locking handle sets on the market today. It simply utilizes an electronic strike in the door frame that releases the locked latch on your existing hardware. Works with rim and panic bars too.

In addition to the Access & Multi systems, is the CONNECTA...this is wireless intercom that allows you to speak to guests and unlock the door for them from up to 200 yards away. Rather than walking to a wall mounted unit to talk to a visitor at your front door, just carry the handheld receiver with you. Speak to visitors and....then unlock the door to let them in from the same handheld intercom!

Gerard Faini of Faini Designs, a diamond retailer and customer jewelry designer installed the MULTI and CONNECTA systems on the entry to his new Diamond Showroom. Now, guests visiting the high-end jeweler can speak with Mr. Faini by pressing the Connecta in the entryway, it rings to a handheld receiver and Gerard can speak to the guests and unlock the door for them with the push of a button...meaning, he doesn't have to walk all the way to the front door to let them in, or "buzz" them in from a stationary button- he can let his guests in from anywhere in the store after speaking to them on the wireless intercom. The added benefit to this system is that his employees can let themselves in with the push of a button too...the same system allows immediate entry for those with their own remote.

Amber Grayson, Sales & Marketing Director for Amesbury LoCCA, "The possibilities for multi-family housing, disabilities, and businesses who want the extra security of speaking to guests prior to letting them in are phenomenal, not to mention those of us who enjoy having the latest tools to make life simpler. Bottom line-Amesbury LoCCA is changing the way we access buildings...we can let ourselves and others in remotely now. Just think of the possibilities to be able to unlock an unlimited number of doors with the same remote. No more "ring of keys" for maintenance or supervisors, just program all of the doors you have access to into one stylish remote! We all know that automation is the trend, so we've embraced it and are pleased to bring remote access and wireless intercoms to the marketplace."
